OWNER CALLS KILLING BY DRY SENT UNJUSTIFIED

County Official Dismisses With Verdict of Inquest Into Death
of Luka Bukovic.

Killing of Luka Bukovic, 37
years old, an Austrian, at Madison square night by S. Glenn Young, Madison enforcement officer of St. Louis, was unnecessary and unjustified, in the opinion of Coroner of Madison County. He reached the finding of the jury, which returned a verdict of justifiable homicide. He also State's Attorney Streuber
investigation which Streuber conducted.

Young and Krill met in the corridor of the Edwardsville courthouse
and Streuber requested a witness at the inquest. The witnesses at the inquest expressed his willingness to testify, but said that there were only two, Young and Walter
L. A. Granite City policeman.
Streuber's view of the case,
he said, "and there was no doubt that the officers should have acted differently. There was no evidence on which could be held."

Streuber said he had the state
because of the instance of Al-
who, she said, told her that
"go easier" with her if she went. In her trial for arson, in St. Louis, County, Streuber
denied the charges. The jury found her guilty. The jury found the girl, and she went to

The best description of it that I have ever seen is in this week's number of the Scientific American,
written by Mr. Lescarboura, its managing editor, who carefully examined
the apparatus in New York. The principles involved in my invention
are really very simple, but it needed
some ingenuity to design and construct the delicate apparatus with which to put them into effect. Let me start with the process of sending a photograph. A print is made on carbon tissue and the sensitized gel-
atine is transferred to a brass cylinder.
Wherever the light catches the sensitized surface the film of gelatine swells. Wherever no light touches it it remains thin. Thus, when fully developed every gradation of light and shade is represented by greater or less thickness of the gelatine. When the film is dry on the brass cylinder
it is like the surface of a fine photograph.

How Picture Is Transmitted.
This cylinder is placed in a frame
with a phonograph motor which turns it rapidly and at the same time
makes it progress slowly in the direction of its axis. Just touching it is a point, like the needle of a phonograph. This allows every slightest elevation and depression of the surface and communicates its motion
to the diaphragm of a microphone, to which are attached the wires that carry the current to the receiving post.

"At the receiving end the current controls the movements of a tiny silver mirror suspended upon two wires so fine that only a practically invisible eye can see them without a microscope and inclosed in a bath of transparent oil. The mirror is in a magnetic field formed by two coils
upon steel cores. An electric arc lamp furnishing 100-candle-power
at a single point projects a ray upon this mirror, the vibrations of which are regulated by the movement of the diaphragm of the microphone at the sending end. The mirror reflects
this ray through a lens which focuses it through a tiny brass funnel to a point just inside a minute hole in a light-proof brass cylinder. The cylinder is a second cylinder upon which is the sensitized paper which is reproduced the picture. The interior of the cylinder revolves in perfect synchronism with the cylinder at the sending end, and the outer cylinder moves at the same speed along its axis. Thus every part of the sensitized paper passes under the point
of light that comes through the hole.
New Shades Are Recorded.

"If this were all, however, you would get no picture, but merely a

POST-DISPATCH TO SEND AND RECEIVE PHOTOS BY WIRE

Pictures Will Be Exchanged
in Few Days With New York World Through Invention of French Engineer.

TRANSMISSION TAKES ONLY FEW MINUTES

Edouard Belin, Inventor, Tells How Vibration From Film Surface Is Caught and Recorded.

Edouard Belin, the eminent French
electrical engineer, arrived in St.
Louis Sunday evening for the purpose of giving a demonstration of his latest invention, which is nothing less than sending an ordinary photograph
a thousand miles in a few minutes
and having it received in exact reproduction of the original.

The demonstration will be made within a few days between the editorial rooms of the Post-Dispatch
and the New York World.

"This invention," said Belin yesterday, "is no longer in its experimental stage, for we have already used it with perfect success between London and Paris and between Antwerp and Paris. Le Matin, one of our leading Paris newspapers, received all its photographs of the Olympic games over the wires from Antwerp by this method, and thus was able, a few hours after the events took place, to publish pictures of them in its pages. At the demonstration we are to give here, the Post-Dispatch will receive over the wires from New York photographs which need only to be developed and sent to its engraving room, and will send to New York photographs for immediate use in the World.

Invention Work of 17 Years.
"I have been working on this apparatus for about 17 years, and I just had it perfected when the war
came and stopped everything."
Belin is famous all over Europe as the man who designed, made and installed the delicate telegraph system
by which the time exact within one
three-hundredth of a second, is signaled automatically every evening
from the astronomical observatory in Paris, via the Eiffel Tower, by wireless telegraphy. It is this highly sensitive system which he has applied to all the world, as all the other wireless stations receive the signal and relay it. Thus every vessel at sea, every exploring party in the desert, if equipped with a simple wireless receiving set, may catch the time signal and set its watches and chronometers accordingly.

The teleostereograph, as Belin's invention is called, is an ingenious combination of the phonograph, telegraph and camera. Asked for a simple description of his process, Belin
replied:
"Merely by reversing the graduated strip of glass," replied Belin, "as
that when the light should be cut off
by the black it passes through transparency, and where it should go through in full intensity it is cut off
by the black. Very simple."

Predicts Wireless Photography.
Belin is accompanied to this country by two of his expert assistants.
M. Toulou, who, during the war, was the principal assistant of Gen. Ferrier, chief of the radio service of the French army, and M. Johanneau, whose specialties are the mechanism
of the apparatus and the preparation of the photographic films. M. Jo-hanneau is remaining in St. Louis to assist in the demonstration in the Post-Dispatch office, while M. Belin returns to New York to direct it
from the office of the World.

"Will it ever be possible to send photographs by wireless?" asked the writer.
"My assistant, M. Toulou, who is one of the world's greatest authorities on radio telegraphy, assures me
that within a year, perhaps within a few months, he will have perfected a process whereby that will be as easy as radio telephony is today. Then the Post-Dispatch will be able to print
this afternoon photographs of important events taking place this morning anywhere on the continent.
Perhaps our wire and wireless stations will by that time be so powerful that we shall even be able to exchange photographs between Europe and America as rapidly as we are now able to exchange messages."

Belin was asked if distance was any bar to the transmission of photographs over the wires.
"I cannot say for certain," he replied. "The greatest distance we have thus far used is a little more than a thousand miles, but this proved to be as easy as over as many feet, and I see no reason why we could not send pictures between San Francisco and New York or between Shanghai and Paris. As soon as we can get a wire I want to try over the longest distance possible. It cannot be done with an ocean cable for technical reasons into which I need not enter."

It may be mentioned that Belin
was amazed at what still seems to him the extraordinary length of time
it took to get his apparatus through the customs at New York. He remarked that he had spent more than 24 hours in entering the ports of England, Belgium, Austria and France needed more than three weeks in entering the United States.
Belin will depart for New York today.

KNOX IS HARDING'S FIRST CHOICE FOR SECRETARY OF STATE

The two Senators, but the general impression is that it had to do with the Lowden appointment.
Senator Harding likes Lowden and regards him as a splendid man to handle the finances of the country.
He made a fine record in Illinois
as a business administrator. Moreover,
he was friendly to the Harding nomination when votes were needed. Under the Wilson administration, the same tendency arose to recognize first the men who helped make the nomination possible at Baltimore.
They were the original Wilson men.
Well, the original Harding men will be the original Lowden men.

Daughterly for Attorney-General.
That brings us to the Department of Justice. Harry Daugherty, president manager for Senator
Harding, will be offered the portfolio of attorney-general. He will be urged to accept. Some of his friends say he can't afford it, but that Harding will insist. If he doesn't take it, another man prominent in Ohio politics, whose name isn't ready to be discarded, will be in a position to demand another place in the Cabinet
and the feeling is that he isn't fitted for it. Ohio will have one portfolio and Daugherty may have it.

If Daugherty doesn't take the Department of Justice, Senator Fall of New Mexico, or former Senator Sutherland of Utah may be selected, though both of these are being really considered for the secretaryship of the interior because of their knowledge of the West. This latter section of the country will insist on having a Western man appointed to be Secretary of the Interior. Senator Fall is looked upon as an excellent all-round adviser. As for former Senator Sutherland, he spent much of the summer at Marion and his advice
was taken on many important subjects by the nominee.

For Secretary of War, the present
prospect is that Gen. John J. Pershing will be asked to take the place.
Friends of Leonard Wood are insist-ent that he be given that or be made
Chief of Staff. If Pershing is Secretary of War, he will not pick Wood for Chief of Staff any more than he would permit Wood to go to Europe
to be a part of the American expeditionary forces. President Wilson and Secretary Baker were blamed for keeping Wood out of Europe, but the truth is Gen. John J. Pershing had much more to do with it than
the officials in Washington.

Another thing: Wood fought Harding in the Ohio primaries, and the sores of that struggle have not been entirely healed. Harding has forgotten Wood, but the alignment of Harding's friends and supporters is still against Wood. Senator Warren of Wyoming, father-in-law of Gen.
Pershing, is a close friend of Senator
Harding and helped get Wyoming
and other Western states to vote for Harding at the Chicago convention.

Weeks for the Navy.
For the Secretaryship of the Navy,
former Senator John W. Weeks of Massachusetts seems to stand the best chance thus far. Senator Harding likes him and made him a member of the Campaign Committee.
Weeks is looked upon as a broadgauged citizen, whose early days in the Naval Academy and subsequent interest in the navy when he was in the Senate have equipped him for the Department of Agriculture.
editor of farm publications and resident of Des Moines, Iowa, is at the top of the list. He has been close to Harding throughout the campaign and has advised the Senator on matters agricultural.

Hays for Postmaster-General.
For the Postmaster-General, Labor Representative Nolan of California is being considered.
For Postmaster-General, Will

Hays is the most likely choice.
For Department of Commerce, no
single name can be said to stand out.
Former Gov. Stokes of New Jersey
is talked of in the event the portfolio doesn't go to New York, but the feeling is that some New York
business man will get the job. Albert D. Lasker of Chicago, one of the ablest men in the Harding campaign,
president of Lord & Thomas, and a skillful organizer, is being urged by many of the prominent men in the Republican party to be Secretary of Commerce, but there again is the difficulty of picking two men from one State—Lowden and Lasker.
It will be noted that Herbert Hoover's name is omitted from the list of probabilities. This may be a surprise, but the group who have talked things over with Harding say that the antagonisms developed
among the farmers of the country
through the Food Administration have been too great. They say that Harding administration. They suggest Hoover should be appointed to some important foreign mission.

FOUNDRY UNION MEMBERS IN SUIT AS TO WHO IS PRESIDENT

Two Men Seek Injunction to Prevent Interference With Their Conduct of Affairs.

An injunction suit against certain members of the International Brotherhood of Foundry Employees,
with headquarters in the Hill Building, 2604 Gravois avenue, brought by two men who claim to be officers of the union, went to trial today before Circuit Judge Hogan.

Leonard Holtschult, who says he is president of the union, and who was elected vice president last year,
and John D. Roth, who claims to be secretary-treasurer by virtue of appointment by Holtschult, are the plaintiffs. The suit is directed against L. E. Gerrity, H. Ludwig, A.
J. Riley, H. J. Stahl, a Justice of the Peace, and two banks and seeks to prevent interference in the conduct of the union affairs by the plaintiffs,
to release union funds which it is alleged the defendants ordered the banks to withhold, and to prevent
the replevin of the office furniture,
suit for which has been filed with the Justice of the Peace.

It was set forth that A. R. Linn
was elected president last year, later
resigning, and Holtschult claimed
the right of accession to the office.
Holtschult said he removed Harry S. Meyers as secretary-treasurer, installing Roth, and removed Ludwig from the executive board.
Riley, he said, resigned from the board, but Riley denied this. The defendants seek to have Gerrity recognized as president by the Court,
as the choice of the Executive Board, and Meyers reinstated as secretary-treasurer.

The salary of the president of the union is $10 a day. There are said to be more than 6000 members.

DIVORCE GRANTED TO MARLBOROUGH DUCHESS

Detective Testifies Duke Was in Paris With Woman Last February.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Duchess of Marlborough, formerly Consuelo
Vanderbilt, daughter of the late W.
K. Vanderbilt of New York, today obtained a decree of divorce from
the Duke of Marlborough.

Allegations of desertion and misconduct were made by the Duchess.
Formal denial of the charges was made by the Duke's counsel, but no evidence was taken.

The charge of desertion was based upon the Duke's disobedience of the order for the restitution of conjugal
rights which the Duchess obtained
last March.

The hearing lasted only 25 minutes, Sir Edward Carson appearing for the Duchess and Robert Bayford
for the Duke.

Only Two Witnesses.
Only two witnesses were called—
an English detective who watched Blenheim Palace, the Duke's residence, and shadowed the Duke and a companion on a trip to Paris, and a solicitor's clerk who witnessed the service of the court papers on the defendant.

Sir Edward Carson explained to the Court that the Duchess was in-sulted by the Duke, the decree
condition to appear, Justice Har-dington, commended Sir Edward's statement that "we were very anxious that the Duchess should be present," adding "the plaintiff's counsel is right in showing the Duchess is willing to appear the same as anyone else."

The Duke occupied a front seat
in the courtroom.

Evidence was given that the Duke
had occupied a room in a prominent hotel in Paris on Feb. 28, last, with a woman whom the detective described as "24 or 25 years of age."
The woman was not named.

Unless other proceedings are instituted by the Duke, the divorce awarded today automatically becomes absolute at the end of six months.

The marriage of the couple took place in New York City in 1896.

The separation of the Duke and Duchess in 1907, in consequence of a deed providing for the custody
of the children and their education,
was referred to by Sir Edward.
He declared the Duke and Duchess met frequently to discuss the bringing up of the children until October of last

4 WOMEN, 2 MEN HELD WHEN THEY ABANDON AUTO

Driver of Car Reported Stolen Last Wednesday Makes His Escape—One of Party an Alleged Gangster.

Two men and four women were arrested today at 12:05 a. m. as they endeavored to flee from an automobile at Sixth and Market streets which had been stopped at sight of a policeman.

One of the men, Edward Wurth, 19 years old, of 107 Trudeau street, was found to have $1000 in Liberty bonds in a pocket. Names of previous possessors had been erased from some of the bonds. On others names still appeared, among them the following: William H. Garlet, William Rehling, Mrs. Lottie Althoff, Henry W. Pieper, Fred Schwarze and John Engle.

The police are communicating with Sheriff at Valmeyer, Ill., Moberly, Mo., where banks and safe deposit boxes containing Liberty bonds were robbed last Saturday.

Wurth said that he had picked up the Liberty bonds in the automobile as they dropped from the pocket of the second male occupant, John Rawie, 44, of 1244 South Ninth street, whom the police know as an associate of members of the Cuckoo gang, which infests lower Chouteau avenue. Wurth said that Rawie had been drinking and that he took possession of the bonds for safe-keeping. Rawie refused to make any statement except to say that the automobile was a hired one. A man operating it escaped.

According to the police, the automobile was that of Harry Anastas, a saloonkeeper, at 601 Market street, who reported it stolen last Wednesday from Seventh and Chestnut streets. At the time of its recovery the car bore a license number accredited to a woman residing on Hamilton avenue.

Rawie has been arrested several times, once in connection with the investigation into the killing of a witness in a larceny case, whose body was found on a farm roadway near East St. Louis.

The police were told that the four women were waitresses. Wurth said that they were attending a party in his home, when Rawie drove up and invited them to go riding.

SIMPLE "AN" RESTORES HEALTH AND YOUTH.

Hundreds of Thousands of Families Find Health and Happiness by Following Plan.

H. H. Von Schlick is known to millions of men and women as a human benefactor.

He gave the secret of his transformation from a sickly, decrepit sufferer to a strong, energetic man.

At 40 Mr. Von Schlick, a wreck physically from stomach, liver and blood diseases, chanced to meet Boris Marokoff, a native of Bulgaria.

Marokoff, at 36 years, was a physical giant, with mind clear, eye keen and complexion ruddy.

Marokoff explained that in his country the natives never depart from nature's forming health plans. The rugged children are kept in condition by 14 herbs which free the system of poisons, purify the blood and kidneys, keep the stomach in condition and regulate the liver.

"I'll make it for you," he told Mr. Von Schlick. "It is composed of leaves, bark, flowers, roots, plants, seed, berries and herbs. You will note a new feeling."

Mr. Von Schlick tried this nature tea. Marokoff's formula was a great discovery. He took on a new lease of life. Today, at near 60, he is younger than when he began using the tea at 40.

Von Schlick secured the herbs from Europe, Asia and Africa. Von Schlick's sickly wife became strong. She gave it to women friends. Mr. Von Schlick consulted physicians who tested its merits and who are today giving it to their patients.

During the terrible 1918-19-20 influenza epidemic Bulgarian Blood Tea was used by millions of sufferers. They met with marvelous success. Millions of people took it, steaming hot to kill colds and guard against the flu.

The name of Bulgarian Tea spread. Today it is used by millions of sufferers in every state in the Union. Sufferers of old age weakness, those include haggard, faded, lined, worn-out, or women crossing precarious thresholds of life. All praise and glory to the tea. Men recover their strength and vitality, the blood becomes rich and pure and the fire and spring of youth returns to those who were in decay. To fortify the system against colds, influenza, pneumonia and other ailments, nothing equals this wonderful medicine.

All druggists now keep Bulgarian Blood Tea in stock, but owing to the enormous demand immediate application to your druggist is urged. On account of the limited supply, distributors are authorized to return the full purchase price if it does not prove to be highly beneficial to the sufferer. This offer of faith in the power of Bulgarian Blood Tea is the guarantee of the American Products Company, sole manufacturers, Marcel Building, Pittsburgh, Pa. We authorize this public announcement.

QUAIL SEASON CLOSED 2 YEARS IN 2 COUNTIES

Gasconade and Franklin Vote to Stop Shooting; Watch on Hunters in Various Parts of State.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 9.—Gasconade and Franklin County voters at the election last Tuesday declared in favor of a closed season on quail shooting for two years. The proposition was carried in both counties by more than 1000 votes. In Gasconade County the new regulation will go into effect tomorrow with the promulgation of the vote and in Franklin the result will be published this week and become effective.

The State law authorizes the killing of quail from Nov. 19 to 29 each year. The same law also authorizes counties to vote upon whether they should have a closed season. This feature of the law was a compromise between advocates of a general closed season over the whole State for two years, and those who opposed the closed season for more than a part of each year. It was decided to make it optional with the counties.

Game Wardens Are Keeping Close Watch on Hunters.
Hunters returning to the city during the last several weeks have been subject to scrutiny by State Game Wardens in search of game-law violations, and it was announced today that the watch will be made stricter beginning tomorrow, which is the opening of the quail season. It is understood that similar watch is being maintained at Kansas City and elsewhere in Missouri.

Al Bruce, a Deputy Game Warden, has been meeting morning and evening trains at Union Station for some time and examining the bags of hunters. He has made no arrests. Hunters must be provided with licenses and may not kill more than 15 ducks a day or have more than 25 in their possession at any time. They may not kill more than 15 quail a day or have more than that number in possession at any time. Under instructions from Tim Birmingham, Commissioner of the State Game and Fish Department, other trunks to the city from the hunting regions are being watched also.

The wild turkey season will open Dec. 1. Birmingham said these and other kinds of game are in abundance this year. The department's fish car will be here next week to remove the crop of fish from the Forest Park hatcheries to waters in Southeastern Missouri.

Proposal for Closed Season in Greene County Defeated.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 9.—The proposal for a closed season on quail in Greene County for a period of two years was defeated in the general election by a vote of 1747 against the measure and 690 for it. The proposal was submitted to a vote at the request of farmers, and the county precincts favored it strongly, but opposition in Springfield defeated it.

Funeral of W. B. Douglas.

Funeral services for Judge Douglas were held at 10 a. m. from the residence, 3121 Delmar boulevard, with private burial in St. Ferdinand's Cemetery, Florissant.

Wallace Nutting Says—

"God doubtless could have made a lovelier thing than a blossoming apple tree, but he doubtless never did." Could any gift be more pleasing than a Nutting study of a charmed old apple tree with its wealth of blossoms faintly pink? There are many other subjects, each with its own appeal.

Art Shop—Fourth Floor.

"When a Bit of Sunshine

Hits ye, after, after passing of a cloud,
When a fit of laughter hits ye,
And ye're spine is feelin' proud,
Don't forget to up and fling it—

At a soul that's feelin' blue,
For the mist that ye sling it
It's a boomerang to you."

This is one of many cheery bits that are prettily framed and make attractive gifts.

ROLLA FOOTBALL PLAYER'S INJURIES CAUSE HIS DEATH

Edwin J. Bohn of St. Louis Suffered Fractured Spine
in Game Saturday Against Warrensburg Normal.

Edwin J. Bohn, 22 years old, of 4932 Forest Park boulevard, left half back of the football team of the Missouri School of Mines at Rolla, died at 7 o'clock last night at Mullaphy Hospital from injuries suffered in the game against Warrensburg Normal at Rolla last Saturday. The fifth vertebrae of his spine was fractured and paralysis developed.

He was the star of the game in which he was injured. Rolla won, 17 to 0, and Bohn scored 10 of the points made by the Miners. His older brother, Harry M. Bohn, of 5830 Waterman avenue, who also was his guardian, today gave the following account of the accident as he had obtained it from other players.

Falls When Tackled.
In the third period of the game Bohn caught a punt and was running it down the field, when one of the Warrensburg players made a tackle which failed to stop him, but knocked him off his stride. Two other Warrensburg tacklers then collided with him and his head hit the thigh of one of his opponents, causing him to fall. He was assisted from the field but insisted that he was not seriously hurt. After he grew worse an examination showed that his spine had been fractured and he was brought to St. Louis.

Bohn was in his senior year at Rolla. He began his football career with the St. Louis University high school team. Several of the members of the Rolla team accompanied him to St. Louis and others visited him here yesterday.

Basketball Captain.
He was 6 feet 3 inches tall, and weighed about 160 pounds. He was captain of the Rolla basketball team and was considered one of the star track men of the school. He was to have graduated next June. He was a member of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity and during the school season resided at the Kappa Alpha house at Rolla.

His brother, Francis E. Bohn, met with a similar accident about five years ago when playing end with the St. Mary's (Kansas) team in a practice game. His spine was dislocated, and as a result he was kept to his bed for several months.

Bohn's parents are dead and he resided with two sisters, Misses Lydia and Adelaide Bohn. Two other surviving sisters are Mrs. Joseph O. Hoffman and Mrs. Harold A. Donovan. The funeral will be held Thursday morning from the home of Harry Bohn. There will be services at New Cathedral.

50 ENTRIES EXPECTED FOR PULITZER TROPHY AIR RACE

If That Number Enter, Machines Will Be Sent Away in Classes on Thanksgiving Day.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—With one week remaining in which entries may be filed for the Pulitzer trophy airplane speed race, on Thanksgiving day, the Aero Club of America, which will handle the event, has promises of the largest field that ever started in an air race in this country. It is expected the machines which face the starting line will number about fifty.

If this promise is fulfilled the planes will be sent away in classes, the fastest field first. Such details as the number in each class cannot be worked out until all entries are received. The army purposes to list between 20 and 30 planes—the navy probably will fly two, both of the type built for launching from battleship decks. One of the navy starters will be a Leaning monoplane and the other, in all likelihood, a Vought. No word has been received yet from Sadi Lacoite, winner of the Gordon Bennett cup at Etampes in September, as to the likelihood of being on hand, but he is still looked on by Aero Club officials as a probable starter.

PASQUALE INDICTED ON CHARGE OF KILLING COUGHLIN BABY

Prisoner Says He Will Plead Guilty and "Take Medicine." Purported Confession Admits Kidnaping.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Nov. 9.—August Pasquale was indicted by the grand jury here yesterday on the charge of killing Blakely Coughlin, 13-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Coughlin of this city, on June 29 last. The grand jury also found true bills charging kidnaping, burglary and extortion, there being two counts on the extortion bill. Only three witnesses, Mr. Coughlin, Capt. Gearhart and another State policeman, were heard and the jury was out less than an hour.

While waiting in the prisoners' room Pasquale talked freely. He said he intends to plead guilty and "take my medicine" without delay. In an alleged confession recently given out by Maj. Lynn G. Adams, head of the State police, Pasquale was said to have admitted kidnaping and killing the child, later extorting $12,000 from its parents on the promise to return it alive.

Widow to Administer Estate.
Mrs. Mary Kalucki yesterday obtained letters of administration on the estate of her husband, Paul S. Kalucki, who was shot and killed last week by Mrs. Valerya Brys, 1902A Cass avenue, after he slapped her following an altercation she had with his wife about the slamming of a screen door. The value of his property was estimated at $14,600. Kalucki lived at 1907 Cass avenue and was a realty dealer and steamship agent.

THE US ARMY TEACHES TRADES

Are you a skilled man? Are you satisfied with your job and your prospects? Have you ever wanted to be a surveyor—or radio operator—or to hold down a technical job?

There's where the big pay is—and getting it is only a matter of knowing enough.

If you want to know more, the Army is a great place to learn.

A soldier has a chance to learn to be expert in one of many technical jobs. He earns a good living while he's studying. He has money in his pocket at the end of every month. It doesn't cost him a cent to fit himself for a "big-pay" job when he goes back to civil life. And he sees new places and faces while he's earning and learning.

It's a good job—an unusually good job as jobs go, nowadays—and it is a way to a better job afterwards.

Ask a recruiting officer.

GIRL, 19, WALKS IN FRONT OF AUTOMOBILE

Miss Peggy O'Brien Suffers Fractured Skull—Six Other Persons Injured.

Miss Peggy O'Brien, 19 years old, a bookkeeper, who gave her address as the Young Women's Christian Association, 1411 Locust street, was knocked down at Grand avenue and Forest Park boulevard at 12:30 o'clock this morning by an automobile driven by Fred Vglz, 22, of 2915 Kennerly avenue. Vglz took her in the automobile to the city hospital, where surgeons said that her skull was fractured, and that she was in a critical condition.

Vglz said that he was driving north along the east side of Grand avenue, and that he did not see Miss O'Brien until she stepped directly into the path of the automobile. He tried to avoid hitting her, he said, but was unable to do so as the automobile was too near her.

Statement by Witness.
Oswald Johnston, 2610 Forest Park boulevard, informed the police that he saw Miss O'Brien sitting on the curb on the west side of Grand avenue, and that just as the rays of the headlights on the automobile illuminated the street at the point where she was sitting she got up and started to the east side, walking right into the path of the machine.

At the Y. W. C. A. the police were told that Miss O'Brien had registered there a week ago, and had stated at that time that she was without funds. She said that she had a brother who was employed in a lumber camp at Hudson Bay, Canada. She left the Y. W. C. A. last Saturday evening and had not returned.

Miss O'Brien recovered consciousness at the hospital this morning. She said that she had been visiting friends in the 3500 block on Forest Park boulevard and had crossed Grand avenue to the east side to catch a northbound car. She said she could not recall having sat down on the west curb and that Johnston must have been mistaken. She said she was standing midway between the east curb and the north car tracks when the automobile hit her. She did not see the automobile approaching, she said. Since leaving the Y. W. C. A. last Saturday, she said, she had been working as a maid in a West End residence.

Mrs. Lena Okenfeld, 39, of 2443A Junata street, was seriously injured at 3 p. m. yesterday when knocked down by an automobile driven by Mert Baird of 4040A Magnolia avenue, as she left the sidewalk to catch a street car at Spring avenue and Arsenal street. She suffered concussion of the brain, scalp wounds, cuts and bruises.

Murdoch McLeod, 73, of 3013A North Twentieth street, a street sweeper, suffered a fractured arm and internal injuries when struck by an automobile driven by Burton W. Elgin of 5330 Pershing avenue, in front of 4240 North Grand avenue. Elgin told the police he attempted to stop his machine when McLeod stepped in front of the car, but said the auto skidded on the wet street.

Man, 69, Badly Hurt.
Maurice Dillon, 69, of 2348 North Prairie avenue, running to catch a Grand car at St. Louis avenue, was knocked down by an automobile driven by Louis Brinker, 3920 North Nineteenth street, suffering a fractured leg and internal injuries. Brinker said Dillon had run into the machine in his haste to catch the car.

Otto Augenstein, 13, of 2738 Marcus avenue, was cut and bruised when knocked down by an automobile driven by Fred Westendorf, of 3416 West Florissant avenue, at Pope and Florissant avenues.

Edward Dependahl, 25, 1912 Dodder street, was thrown into the wind shield of his automobile when it skidded as he tried to avoid a wagon and ran into a pole at Twelfth and Chambers streets. He was cut on the chest, knees and face.

An automobile driven by Antonio Carter, 2620 Olive street, a negro, was demolished in collision with a southbound Delmar-Olive car at Taylor avenue and Washington boulevard. Carter was cut and bruised and arrested for carelessness. He said he was running at 15 miles an hour and started across the tracks, expecting the car to stop at the crossing. The motorman told the police Carter was running at about 20 miles an hour and tried to beat the car across the crossing.

Mrs. Elizabeth Frey, 31 years old, of 5128 Ridge avenue, a widow, was thrown from an automobile in which she was riding with her granddaughter, Mrs. George R. Whittson, also of the Ridge avenue address, when the machine collided with a motor truck of the Pevely Dairy Co., driven by Joseph J. Wassen 2145 Michigan avenue, at Grand and Russell avenues at 3 p. m. Two of her ribs were fractured and she was internally injured.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work. People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects. Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath. Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 50c.

H. I. DRUMMOND, HIT IN NEW YORK BY STREET CAR, DIES

Former Vice-President of American Tobacco Co.
Succumbs to Injuries Suffered
Election Night.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Harrison I. Drummond, 52 years old, a former vice president of the American Tobacco Co., and former president of the Drummond Tobacco Co. of St. Louis, died in the Knickerbocker Hospital yesterday from a fracture of the skull. He was run down by a Columbus avenue trolley car near Seventy-fourth street on election evening, Nov. 2.

Drummond, who lived at the St. Paul Hotel, Sixtieth street and Columbus avenue, was taking a walk and walked in front of the trolley car. The motorman was not arrested, as the police held that he was not to blame for the accident. At the hospital it was at first supposed that the patient's name was Harry Harrison. A brother-in-law later identified him.

Brother Departs for New York on News of Death.

James T. Drummond of 5339 Pershing avenue has departed for New York, following the news of the death of his brother, Harrison I. Drummond. Drummond also was a brother of Mrs. Eugene R. Cuedet of 4 Hortense place. Another brother, Charles Drummond, resides in Los Angeles. Drummond's wife, who was Miss Mary K. Prickett, daughter of an Edwardsville (Ill.) banker, and sister of Mrs. H. Clay Pierce, wife of the chairman of the board of the Pierce Oil Corporation, divorced him in Los Angeles a year ago.

There are two children, Mrs. Frances Shaw Baer and Harrison I. Drummond Jr., the latter now representing the American Tobacco Co. in Greece.

Drummond was born in Alton and resided in St. Louis during his business life until about 15 years ago. He was one of five heirs to the $7,000,000 estate of his father, James T. Drummond.

LIQUOR LICENSES OF LEVIN AND TWO OTHERS REVOKED
Deputy Constable Under Volstead Act Loses Permit by Order of Enforcement Director.

Wholesale liquor dealers' licenses held by Harry Levin, 822 O'Fallon street; Morris Multin, 1465 Goodfellow avenue, and the W. Schneider Wine and Liquor Co. were revoked yesterday by Shradler P. Howell, Federal prohibition director of Missouri, in an order issued from his office in Kansas City.

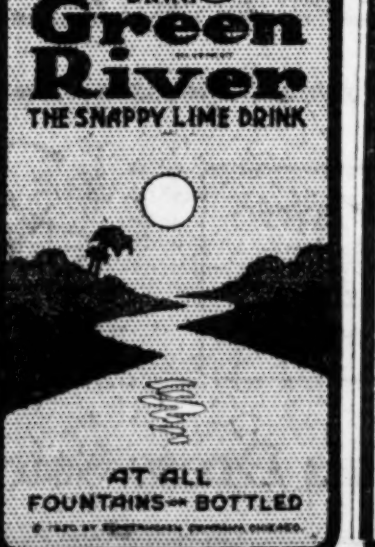

Levin is a Deputy Constable in Justice of the Peace Miles' court. He took out a wholesaler's license to sell whisky at the O'Fallon street address. A warrant charging him with violating the Volstead act was issued last August after it was learned that 1500 cases of whisky had been shipped to him from Kentucky and taken to places other than the place where he was licensed to do business. Parts of this shipment were found in several saloons. The charge against Levin is still pending.

A warrant charging Multin with illegally transporting whisky was issued last May after 15 barrels of whisky consigned to him had been found in the basement of a commission store at 917 North Fourth street. This was said to be a part of a total shipment of 50 barrels. His license permitted him to do business only at his Goodfellow avenue address.

Frank H. Freese Suffered From Asthma and Was Separated From Wife.

Frank H. Freese, 52 years old, of 4201 Lee avenue, a printer, who suffered for 12 years from asthma, was found hanging in a shed at the rear of his home by his mother, Mary, with whom he had lived, when she missed him from the house and started a search of the premises at 1 p. m. yesterday. He was dead when taken to the city hospital.

Freese hung himself to a rafter in the shed by means of a stout cord. The mother told the police he was separated from his wife, Johanna, who lived at 3411 North Twentieth street.

HIGH-CLASS PERFORMERS
ON ORPHEUM PROGRAM

The Orpheum Theater management has fairly outdone all of its previous efforts of the season in presented a real "big time" bill for the current week's entertainment. At least four acts on the program are worthy of headline honors. These are Albertina Rasch, premiere ballet dancer of the two-a-day; Blossom
Seely, who takes up egyptocution
where others leave off; Toto, the famous clown, a prime attraction for children between the ages of 8 and 80, and Lyons and Yosco, the boy with the harp and the man with the quaint Italian dialect and honey-
sweet voice for ballads.

Miss Rasch's ballet diversions are more varied and colorful than ever.
Both she and Miss Seely suffered
somewhat from inadequate orchestral assistance, but despite this their acts went over on the sheer merit
and established popularity of the performers.

Toto, the clown, is convulsingly funny in his clodish way. He closely crowds another famous entertainer for the title of "the perfect fool."

The bill opens with a remarkable bird act in which the performers are parrots, cockatoos and pigeons. On the program also are Eddie Kane
and Jay Herman in a mirthful act
which they call a routine cocktail.
Elizabeth Nelson and the Barry Boys
in songs and dances and Guy and Pearl Magley, in a breath-taking whirlwind dance turn.

808 TREES DIED IN CITY PARKS IN YEAR

Of There 571 Are in Forest Park;
for Every Dead Tree 5 or 6
Live Ones Will Be Planted.

The annual census of dead trees in the parks, which has just been completed, discloses that 808 have died during the past year, of which 571 are in Forest Park and 237 in the smaller parks.

In Forest Park the greatest mortality has been among the maples, of which 140 expired. Oaks came next with 120 fatalities. The other deaths were: Poplar, 95; willow, 70; hickory, 27; elm, 23; pine, 21; cypress, 18; asp, 17; walnut, 16; sycamore, 10; locust, 7; tulip, 3.

The death rate, Commissioner Pape says, was about normal. The causes were all the ills that trees are heir to. The census takers were not charged with the duty of diagnosing the causes. In the cases of some that were not less than 100 years old, senility was the obvious infirmity. It was noticed that most of the deaths occurred in the parts most frequented by picnickers and others, so it is concluded that mistreatment caused some of the deaths.

The dead will be removed with dynamite. There are two reasons for this. For one thing, dynamite is expeditious. With it 40 dead trees can be uprooted in a day. No more than five or six could be cut down in a day. Another thing, the dynamiting churns up the soil and facilitates the planting and growth of young trees.

For every dead tree five or six live ones will be planted. There are 7000 young ones in the nurseries. In addition there are 65,000 shrubs ready to be planted.

FRANCIS WILSON APPEARS IN REVIVAL OF "ERMINIE"

Returns to Operate Stage After 17 Years—DeWolf Hopper in the Cast.

By The Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 9.—Unique, sentimental interest was attached to a revival of the famous old comic opera, "Erminie," at the Academy of Music here last night with Francis Wilson and DeWolf Hopper in the roles of Cadeau and Ravennus. The occasion marked the return of Wilson to the operatic stage after an absence of 17 years in the field of light comedy and his first artistic association with his old rival, Hopper.

When "Erminie" was first produced at the New York Casino on May 10, 1884, Wilson created the role in which he appeared last night and up to 1903, when the opera was last revived. He played the part more than 3000 times.

$3,000,000 TO CHILD SOCIETY

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children announces gifts by Mr. and Mrs. August Heckscher of New York City of property in Fifth Avenue for the erection of new buildings and an endowment fund for their maintenance, totaling in value more than $3,000,000. The amount of the endowment, while not disclosed, will yield an income, it was stated, of not less than $50,000 annually.

The society, in announcing the gift, outlined plans which are proposed for broadening the scope of its work. A kindergarten, lecture hall and wading and swimming pools are planned, and it is hoped to add a clinic to the hospital now under construction. Ernest K. Coulter, originator of the "big brother movement," who is managing director of the society, will remain in charge.

Bad Stomach Sends Her to Bed for 10 Months

Eaton's Gets Her Up!

"Over a year ago," says Mrs. Dora Williams, "I took to bed and for 10 months did not think I would live. Eaton's helped me so much I am now up and able to work. I recommend it highly for stomach trouble."

Eaton's helps people to get well by taking up and carrying out the excess acidity and gases that put the stomach out of order. If you have indigestion, sourness, heartburn, belching, food repeating, or other stomach distress, take an Eaton's after each meal. Big box costs only a trifle with your druggist's guarantee.

SHOOT AT FLEEING BURGLARS

Farmer's Son Thinks He Hit One of Three Men.
Fred Schrick, son of a farmer residing at Page Avenue the Woodson road, St. Louis County, telephoned to the Sheriff's office that he had surprised three burglars in his father's home last night at 9 o'clock, had fired a shotgun at them as they fled.

and thought he had hit one of the burglars.

He said that upon returning home he saw a ladder leading to a second-story window and found the men ransacking his father's room. He said his father received a wound of money yesterday, but could not state the amount, though the burglars did not get the money.

With Rich Chicken Gravy

HERE'S a meal for a hungry family. Roast chicken. And rice, cooked southern style so that every grain stands alone. Then pour the rich chicken gravy over the rice and let it seep down by each plump, tender flake. You never tasted anything quite so good.

Rice should be served as a vegetable. Eat it as you do potatoes with all fish, poultry and meats. It improves a good soup or stew. There are over three hundred ways to prepare rice.

It is the most economical food you can buy. One cupful makes enough for a family of five. There is no waste to rice. If any is left, serve it with sugar and cream for breakfast. It can be made into many tasty dishes by combining it with leftover meats. You will enjoy rice every day. And it will save you money on grocery bills.

The healthful properties of rice are equaled by no other food. American rice is the world's finest. It digests in one hour. Other foods take from one hour and forty-five minutes to four hours. Rice builds strength and sustains it. It is ideal for hard-working men and women. It nourishes growing children.

ASSOCIATED RICE MILLERS OF AMERICA, Inc., New Orleans, La.

The South Gives Us this Master Recipe

Southern mammas are famous for their cooking. The way they cook rice is the best and easiest way to prepare it. Their recipe is so simple that any person by following it can successfully cook rice the first time they try.

Wash rice thoroughly in a strainer. Use a deep porcelain or agate-ware kettle. To four cups of boiling water add one level teaspoonful of salt. Then add one cup of washed rice so slowly that water continues to boil. Lift rice occasionally with fork, and shake kettle so that no kernels stick to bottom. But—this is important—never stir the rice. Boil twenty minutes. Then pour water off, if any, and place in open oven where it will finish swelling without burning. Each grain will stand alone, plump, tender, and delicious.

Consult any standard cook book for a number of excellent recipes for rice. Here are a few others.

RICE EGG BALLS
Boil hard five eggs, remove the shells and put through a potato ricer or a sieve, with an equal amount of boiled rice. Season with salt, pepper and butter. Make into balls and dip into raw egg, then in crumbs and fry in deep hot fat. Drain and place on small pieces of buttered toast and pour over the whole melted butter.

FISH WITH RICE
Pick from the bones of cold boiled fish enough meat to make two cupfuls, season with salt, pepper and a little cayenne, and fry lightly with a tablespoonful of butter. Add one cupful of boiled rice, and yolk of four hard boiled eggs, mashed. Stir well, and place on a platter, and garnish with the whites and pickles chopped together.

RICE CURRY
One can of tomatoes, six tablespoonfuls of rice, one onion, salt, one saltspoonful of curry powder, white pepper and one tablespoonful of butter. Put the butter in a sauce pan, grate into it the onion, add the liquor of the tomatoes, rice, and seasoning (salt, pepper and curry powder). Simmer for about an hour on the back of the stove.

Coors PURE MALTED MILK

"As Pure as It Looks"

COORS Pure Malted Milk is of a creamy white color, the same as the rich creamy milk from which it is made. In malted milk, whiteness and purity go hand in hand. No other malted milk has this natural color of COORS.

COORS is so white because it contains nothing but full-cream, cow's milk and the soluble parts of malted barley and wheat. Our secret process for the scientific com-binning of these elements produces a highly nutritious and palatable food, with all waste eliminated. It also gives COORS a pleasant after-taste, and makes it easy of assimilation for even the most delicate stomach.

COORS is higher in butter fat, higher in malt sugar, lower in moisture, and lower in ash content. It is a perfectly-balanced, complete food. Recommended by physicians—sold by druggists.

(New, Wonderful, Quick Method.)

You who are annoyed with embarrassing growths of superfluous hair have waited long for something that would do more than merely take off the surface hair temporarily—something that would really remove the hair roots. And now—at last—your wish is realized!

The new electrolytic process is far different from far better than electrical, depilatory or other methods, because it actually removes the hair entire, roots and all—before your very eyes—quickly, harmlessly! Get a stick of electrolytic from your druggist, follow the simple directions, and you will be surprised and pleased beyond words. It has no odor, no irritating element, and is so safe that a child could safely use it. It leaves the skin so soft, smooth, hair-free that not the least sign of your former trouble remains.

STOCK EXCHANGERecovery Starts in Hesitating
Fashion, Then Trading Falls Off and Shares Resume Downward Move.By Leased Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The Evening
Post in its copyrighted financial review today said:

The recovery which got under way
this morning on the Stock Exchange and the commodity market was watched with more than usual interest, in the hope that it would give a hint of a genuine turn in the tide. To warrant this interpretation, Wall Street itself argued that the recovery would have to be decisive and increasingly vigorous. However, the upward movement, which appeared to be based largely on repurchases by recent sellers for the fall had only gone a short distance when the volume of trading fell off sharply. With no further urging pressure to buy in evidence, the movement reversed itself and the later trading witnessed a resumption of the downward movement in stocks.

Advances of Point or Two.
Advances shortly after the opening amounted to a point or two in numerous industrial stocks. Cotton prices were generally somewhat higher, and wheat recovered 1 or 2 cents
after losing 5 to 6 cents yesterday.
On the downward reaction which promptly ensued on the Stock Exchange, many industrials
lost all their previous gain, with considerable declines in addition. Sugar, steel and oil stocks were especially weak, but a few of the railroad shares retained a part of the early advance. Cash prices of wheat broke down, and wheat recovered 1 or 2
cents per bushel to the lower level
of the year, while on the Chicago
market a similar movement occurred
in future contracts for the grain.
Further heavy reduction in cotton
taxiles marked the further progress
of that market toward a workable
price level. Money on the Stock Exchange after lending at 9 per cent
went through the familiar performance of advancing to 10 in the last hour.

Sterling Up 4 1/2 Cents.
The European exchanges made
large recoveries today, sterling getting 4 1/2 cents above yesterday's late closing price. Continental rates also advanced sharply. At 10 o'clock
sterling was 16 1/2 cents above
the pound below its level on the day when the Anglo-French loan was paid, while French franc was 13 1/2 cents lower. The extent of the break shows that event rightly regarded as a striking commentary on the results of the strain under which our own money market has labored, and the holders of European drafts to realize on them at various prices.
Argentine rates advanced sharply today, in the face of recovery elsewhere.
British foreign trade in October
today, showed a balance of exports
over export amounting to $21,460,000.
This was practically the same figure
as that for September, though imports in October were $2,000,000
smaller. Compared with a year ago, British exports of domestic and foreign products have increased 133, 000,000. The present showing, however, has obviously been influenced by the labor troubles that England
has experienced in recent months,
for as late as last July exports were $7,000,000 larger than they were in October. In July the excess of imports was only $3,000,000. The increase since that time is one of the factors causing the great decline in the value of sterling exchange.

Foreign Exchange
and Domestic Money

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—There was a complete reversal in trading conditions today in the foreign exchange market. Instead of offerings in large volume without bids,
the market was generally one of bids for large amounts without offers, and especially in sterling, where the demand was particularly strong.
Sterling, which had been at 16 1/2 cents below the pound, advanced to 17 1/2 cents, and the dollar to 24 1/2 cents. The market was generally one of bids for large amounts without offers, and especially in sterling, where

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Prospects for a recovery in the stock market were strengthened by the opening of the cotton market at a lower level, with near month futures at 10.50, and the demand for the market was further stimulated by the fact that the market was supplied by the cotton market.

Wall Street News and Comment —SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—In most of the markets the tendency today was toward a reversal of the action of the preceding days. All the foreign exchanges went higher for the first time in nearly a week that the depression has been even temporarily relieved. Both cotton and grain opened higher and the grain market showed likewise a letup in the severe selling pressure by which they were depressed yesterday. In the stock market the movement was very much confused. But there was also more evidence of a desire to take in short interests, and while parts of the industrial list were very weak, other parts were decidedly steadier.

Simultaneously with the renewed decline in the price of raw sugar which carried it to a new low for the year, the sugar stocks were violently assailed. The general reaction in the market of American sugar by the apparent certainty that the directors at tomorrow's meeting will omit the 10-cent dividend and put the stock back to 1-per-cent basis. Copper shares were heavily sold for no new reason because the market was perfectly well known, but seemingly because these stocks for the last week or so have been standing up solidly and in a manner to tempt a bear party flushed with success. The steel were also driven down sharply, most of them to new low points. On the other hand, the weakness in these quarters was evidently providing a cover for repurchase in other issues which had been badly hit yesterday.

The day was the worst in point of weakness and general demoralization for some time. There was no new influence brought to bear upon the movement of prices, but on no occasion yet have there been so many trouble rumors going the rounds.

For the first half of the session the weakness in these groups did not spread to the general list. There was a renewal of persistent buying in Southern Pacific, Reading and other high-grade rails. Oil shares, motors and numerous industrial specialties which had been hit very hard on the previous days were steadier. But in the afternoon the entire market yielded to the strain and in the last hour saw low prices were recorded all through the industrial section, while railway shares likewise broke very sharply.

Following a steadier tone at the opening, the downward movement in the grain markets was resumed and both wheat and corn were weaker than ever. On the other hand the cotton market and the foreign exchange reversed their tendency of the preceding days and at one time sterling was up from its low over 3 cents in the pound. It was the first day in a week that French and Italian bills displayed any rally at all. The bond market did not escape as it previously had. Liberty bonds were lower and so were most of the railway issues. The decline in bonds was too trivial, however, to indicate any change of attitude in this quarter. The bond list merely felt the pressure of a moderate amount of liquidation from interests caught in the slump in stocks.

The low prices in the share list were made in the final hour and it was then that the selling was most urgent. Part of the speculative community at least had been looking for a temporary rally and had based early operations accordingly. What took their courage was the rapidity with which stocks like the Southern Pacific, Reading, Baldwin Locomotive and Mexican Petroleum, which had stood up so well through the forenoon, gave way once the selling movement took hold of them. It was literally true that in the final dealings the stocks which had been strongest up to midday were the weakest. Low-priced rails did go down as much as the dividend payers, but they were off a point or 2 points. The Mexican oils, the equipments and the tobacco stocks with the higher priced rails were the things which suffered most severely under the violent selling movement of the last hour.

The Bond Market.

The bond market was not awayed to any important degree by the extreme weakness in stocks, but it was slightly more sensitive than it had been on other days. Even in the investment group prices were shaded a fraction. Bonds like the A. T. & S. F. general 4s and the Union Pacific 4s were a quarter of a point or so lower. These recessions were quite inconsequential, but still they bore evidence to the fact that transactions in bonds could not entirely escape showing the tremendous strain under which the share list was laboring. As the railway shares after holding strong in the early part of the day slid in the downward swing, convertible bonds moved sympathetically. Southern Pacific convertible 5s and likewise the 4s led the decline in this section.

Liberty Bonds were heavy, probably showing the effect of liquidation from distressed holders of stocks. But selling of this character did not extend to the rest of the Government list.

Recent flotations like the French 5s were comparatively steady. These bonds were selling most of the day at 101 1/2 at which figure they were unchanged from yesterday. The big factors in the Government group was the two classes of Mexican Government issues. The Mexican 5s got up to 5 1/2, a rise of nearly 3 points and there was a similar jump in the 4s to 3 1/2. These prices represented much the highest yet reached and the fact that the advance was attended by transactions of unusual magnitude indicated increasing confidence that recognition of Mexico is near at hand and will be followed by an American loan which will rehabilitate the Mexican treasury.

Industrial bonds stood up rather surprisingly well considering the extreme weakness in industrial stocks. Traction issues and public utilities generally were lower, but not to any appreciable extent. The new Westinghouse Electric 7s were readily taken all day at 95 1/2, that is within less than a point of their highest.

Texas Cattle Shipments Increases.

PORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 9.—Cattle for export from Texas points at new low according to reports from Texas for the period ending November 8, 1920. The Texas Cattle Raisers' Association has attributed the association to an improved market. Ranch conditions are excellent and much shipping between Texas and Mexico is expected.

PRINCE FALLS IN LOVE WITH AMERICAN GIRL

She Lets Him Get Away—This Occurs in the Comedy "Just Suppose."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—It has been inevitable since the visit of Edward Albert, Prince of Wales, that this young man would be dramatized, set to a few tears and made to fall in love with an American girl. But not so easily have we conceived of the wide stretch of imagination that would cause an American girl, loved by and in love with the Prince, to then allow him to get away from her. Yet that is the thread of the story of "Just Suppose," a comedy presented last week at Henry Miller's Theater, with Patricia Collinge in the leading role.

Proceeding upon the hypothesis that the sacredness of faithfully succeeding to a throne of towers above the sacredness of keeping faith with the heart, which, in these United States it does not, A. E. Thomas brought to a close, in a pretty fashion and with an audience drying its eyes for the tenth time, a simple little courtship between the heir apparent and a winsome Virginia girl.

Details of the Plot.
Just as the Prince visited incognito in homes throughout the South when he was here, "George," the Prince, incognito, came into the life of Linda Lee Stafford. A brief stay in the home caused by an attack of illness to the Prince, and, lo, he and Linda Lee were deeply in love.

And then comes the parting, and the weirdly unnatural stand taken by Linda Lee that she must honor more the man she loved should he go back to England, marry into royalty, and just allow her to keep on caring for him and crying her life away. In England that peculiar construction upon the workings of a Virginia girl's heart might pass muster. In Virginia, when girls are in love, they become footloose. And so, lack of logic makes the plot, but not the acting.

Miss Collinge played as sweet a Linda Lee, in distress and in happiness, as could be desired. Her performance made one forget the shortcomings of the written play and admire her and weep with her when she wept. She was at once a most lovable girl with a broken heart when she refused to allow the Prince to renounce the throne and marry her, and a comedienne of real ability when she chose.

Some Principals in Cast.
Geoffrey Kerr as the Prince was by no means well cast for the part for it was apparent Edward Albert was the young man in question, regardless of the author's attempts to create a somewhat ambiguous Prince. Fred Kerr, his father in real life, who played the Marquis of Karnaby, did, next to Miss Collinge, by far the best work. Leslie Howard, as the Prince's aid, used English slang humorously, and Mrs. Thomas Whitton, as the grandmother of Linda Lee, was a splendid old character.

YOUNG WOMAN ROBBED OF 15 CENTS IN HOLDUP

She Reports Being Stopped by Two Armed Men Sunday—
—Other Crimes.

Miss Edna Young of 5925 De Giverville avenue reported to the police yesterday that she had been stopped by two armed men at 9 p. m. Sunday at De Giverville and Hamilton avenues and had been made to hold up her arms while they searched a purse she carried and took 15 cents.

Jacob Rubinstein, proprietor of a saloon at 3845 Laclede avenue, was locked in the icebox of the place last night by a negro who had called for a bottle of soda water. "I want a colder one," the negro remarked when Rubinstein waited on him, and when the proprietor stepped into the icebox to comply with the request, the negro slammed the door shut and locked him in. The negro took $45 from the cash register and escaped. Rubinstein was released from the box 15 minutes later by a customer.

Hugh Smith, 1820 North Broadway, was held up by two armed men near Twelfth and Mullaphy streets at 5 p. m. and robbed of $2.

Albert Maarchepa, 1608 Pine street, proprietor of a saloon, was held up in his place by two armed men at 10 p. m. and the cash register robbed of $25.

Charles Simpson, 25 years old, a soldier stationed at Jefferson Barracks, was taken to the city hospital suffering from concussion of the brain last night, after he had been struck on the head with some blunt instrument when he passed an alley on Ninth street, between Chestnut and Market streets.

Peter Gaffney, staying at the Marquette Hotel, told the police he had been robbed of $105 by a negro who asked him to walk with her through an alley on Twenty-first street, near Pine, telling Gaffney she was afraid to go home alone. Half way up the alley, he said, she threw her arms around his neck and then ran away. He missed his purse a short time later.

The Owners of Union Electric Preferred Stock Won't Worry About the Income of Their Shares.

Seven dollars a year cash income from each $100 invested — income that you can count on in good years and bad years alike—makes a very desirable investment at any time. It is especially desirable in times like the present, when the business world has to make wholesale readjustments and scaling down of prices and values.

The owners of Union Electric 7% preferred stock won't have to worry about the income from their shares during the period of readjustment. That income, under good management and strict State regulation, is protected by a earning margin more than ample to assure its regular payment during good years and bad years alike.

You can buy shares of this preferred stock at $100 a share for cash, $102 on a ten-monthly-payment plan, at Room 201 Union Electric Bldg., 12th and Locust streets, St. Louis, or at Union Electric's offices in Franklin, Jefferson, Perry, St. Louis and St. Charles counties.

We recommend it especially to small investors who want a 7 per cent income from their savings, with safety for their principal. Over 4000 St. Louis district men and women own shares of this stock—Missouri's safest 7% dividend payer—and the number is steadily increasing.

DOROTHY—It is not against the law to make apple cider, provided it does not contain more than one-half of 1 per cent alcohol. Calcium sulphate (about 1/2 of an ounce) is used to prevent fermentation in cider. THIRD INSTALLMENT.

TRUE, there was not a word in what he said that was calculated to bring the blush of shame to the cheek of modesty; nevertheless, she felt vaguely that Ramsden Waters had exceeded the limits. She had been prepared for a grinning Ramsden Waters, a Ramsden Waters who fell over his large feet and perspired; but there was a Ramsden Waters who addressed her not merely as an equal, but with more than a touch of superiority. She eyed him coldly, but he turned to speak to little Wilberforce, who was to accompany them on the round.

"And you, my lad," said Ramsden, curtly, "you kindly remember that this is a competition, and keep your merry flow of conversation as much as possible to yourself. You've got a bad habit of breaking into small talk when a man's addressing the ball."

"If you think that my brother will be in the way," began Eunice, coldly.

"Oh, I don't mind him coming round," said Ramsden, if he keeps quiet."

Eunice gasped. She had not played enough golf to understand how that noblest of games changes a man's whole nature when on the links. She would not know that the mere feel of a driver made Ramsden Waters a different being. She was thinking of something crushing to say to him, when he advanced to the tee to drive off.

He drove a perfect ball, hard and low, with a lot of roll. Even Eunice was impressed.

"Good shot, partner," she said.

Ramsden was apparently unaware that she had spoken.

He was gazing down the fairway with his club over his left shoulder, in an attitude almost identical with that of Sandy McBean in the game labeled "The Drive—Correct Finish," to face page 24 of his monumental work, "How to Become a Scratch Player Your First Season by Studying Photographs."

Eunice bit her lip. She was pained. She felt as if she had patted the head of a pet lamb, and the lamb had turned and bitten her in the finger.

"I said, 'Good shot, partner,'" she repeated, mildly.

"Yes," said Ramsden, "but don't talk. It prevents one concentrating." He turned to Wilberforce. "And don't let me have to tell you that again," he said.

"Wilberforce has been like a mouse!"

"That's what I complain of," said Ramsden. "He makes a beastly scratching sound, and that's what he was doing when I drove that ball."

"He was only playing with the sand in the tee box."

"Well, if he does it again, I shall be reluctantly compelled to take steps."

They walked in silence to where the ball had stopped. It was nicely perched up on the grass, and to have plunked it into the green with an iron would have been for any reasonable golfer the work of a moment. Eunice, however, only succeeded in slicing it feebly into the rough.

Ramsden reached for his niblick and plunged into the jungle. And, presently, as if it had been shot up by some convulsion of nature, the ball, accompanied on the early stages of its journey by about a pound of mixed mud, grass and pebbles, sailed through the air and fell on the green. But the mischief had been done. Miss Bingley, putting herself, put the opposition ball down for a four and won the hole.

Eunice now began to play better, and, as Ramsden was on the top of his game, a ding-dong race ensued for the remainder of the first nine holes. The Bingley-Perkins combination, owing to some clever work by the female species, managed to keep their lead up to the tricky ravine hole, but then George Perkins, as might have been expected of him, deposited the ball right in among the rocks, and Ramsden and Eunice drew level. The next four holes were halved, and they reached the clubhouse with no advantage to either side. There was a pause while Miss Bingley went to the professional's shop to have a tack put into the leather of her mashes, which had worked loose. George Perkins and Wilberforce, who were in the direction of the refreshment bar, and Ramsden and Eunice were alone.

The pique which Eunice had felt at the beginning of the game had vanished by now. She was better pleased with her performance than she had been for some time. She was glad to go into the matter fully. Also she was conscious of a feeling not perhaps of respect so much as of a descending tolerance toward Ramsden. He might be a pretty minus quantity in a drawing room or at a dance, but in a bunker or out in the rough with a cleek, Eunice felt, you'd be surprised. She was just about to address him in a spirit of familiarity, when he spoke.

Eunice gasped. Indeed had she been of a less remarkable beauty one would have said that she was startled. The sky turned black, and all her amiability was swept away in a flood of fury. The blood left her face and surged back in a rush of passion. You are engaged to be married and I tell you that there exists between you and your betrothed the utmost love and trust and understanding, but you have the nerve, could you summon up the cold, callous gall to tell your betrothed that she wasn't capable of using her wooden club? I think not. Yet this was what Ramsden Waters had told Eunice, and the delicately nurtured girl staggered before the coarse insult. Her sensitive nature was all churned up.

Ever since she had made her first drive at golf, she had prided herself on her use of the word. Her brother and her brassy were the only things she had named. And here was this man deliberately—

"Mr. Waters!"

Before they could have further speech George Perkins and little Wilberforce ambled in a bloated way out of the clubhouse.

"I've had three ginger ales," observed the boy. "Where do we go from here?"

"Our honor," said Ramsden. "Shoot!"

Ramsden took out her driver without a word. The figure was tense with emotion. She swung vigorously, and pulled the ball far out on to the fairway of the ninth hole.

"Even off the tee," said Ramsden, "you had better use an iron. You must keep 'em straight."

Their eyes met. Hers were glittering with the fury of a woman scorned. His were cold and hard. And, suddenly, as she looked at his awful, pale, set, golf face, something seemed to snap in Eunice.

A strange sensation of weakness and humility swept over her. So might the cave woman have felt when, with her back against a cliff and unable to dodge, she watched her suitor take his club in the interlocking grip, and, after a preliminary waggle, start his back swing.

The fact was that, all her life, Eunice had been accustomed to the homage of men. From the time she had put her hair up, every man she had met had groveled before her, and she had acquired a mental attitude toward the other sex which was a blend of indifference and contempt. For the cringing specimens who curled up and died all over the hearth rug if she spoke a cold word to them she had nothing but scorn. She dreamed wistfully of those brusque cave men of whom she read in the novels which she took out of the village circulating library. The female novelist who was at that time her favorite always supplied with each chunk of wholesome and invigorating fiction one beetle-browed hero with a grouch and a scowl, who rode wild horses over the countryside till they foamed at the mouth and treated women like dirt. That, Eunice had thought yearningly, as she talked to youths whose spines turned to gelatine at one glance from her bright eyes, was the sort of man she wanted to meet and never seemed to come across.

Of all the men whose acquaintance she had made recently, she had despised Ramsden Waters most. Where others had groveled he had tied himself into knots. Where others had gazed at her like sheep, he had goggled at her like a kicked spaniel. She had only permitted him to hang around because he seemed so fond of little Wilberforce. And here he was ordering her about and piercing her with gimlet eyes, for all the world as if he were Claude Delamere, in the thirty-second chapter of "The Man of Chilled Steel," the one where Claude drags Lady Matilda around the smoking room by her hair because she gave the rose from her bouquet to the Italian Count.

She was half-cowed, half-resentful.

"Mr. Winkethorpe told me I was very good with the wooden clubs," she said, defiantly.

"He's a great kiddie," said Ramsden.

He went down the hill to where his ball lay. Eunice proceeded direct for the green. Much as she told herself she hated this man, she never questioned his ability to get there with his next shot.

George Perkins, who had long since forfeited any confidence which his partner might have reposed in him, had topped his drive, leaving Miss Bingley a difficult second out of a sandy ditch. The hole was halved.

The match went on. Ramsden won the short hole, laying his ball dead with a perfect iron shot, but at the next, the long dog-leg hole, Miss Bingley regained the honor. They came to the last hole all square.

As the match had started on the tenth tee, the last hole to be negotiated was, of course, what in the ordinary run of human affairs is the ninth, possibly the trickiest on the course. As you know, it is necessary to carry with one's initial wallop that combination of stream and lake into the clubhouse with no advantage to either side. There was a pause while Miss Bingley went to the professional's shop to have a tack put into the leather of her mashes, which had worked loose. Their eyes met. Hers were glittering with the fury of a woman scorned. His were cold and hard. And, suddenly, as she looked at his awful, pale, set, golf face, something seemed to snap in Eunice.

A strange sensation of weakness and humility swept over her. So might the cave woman have felt when, with her back against a cliff and unable to dodge, she watched her suitor take his club in the interlocking grip, and, after a preliminary waggle, start his back swing.

The fact was that, all her life, Eunice had been accustomed to the homage of men. From the time she had put her hair up, every man she had met had groveled before her, and she had acquired a mental attitude toward the other sex which was a blend of indifference and contempt. For the cringing specimens who curled up and died all over the hearth rug if she spoke a cold word to them she had nothing but scorn. She dreamed wistfully of those brusque cave men of whom she read in the novels which she took out of the village circulating library. The female novelist who was at that time her favorite always supplied with each chunk of wholesome and invigorating fiction one beetle-browed hero with a grouch and a scowl, who rode wild horses over the countryside till they foamed at the mouth and treated women like dirt. That, Eunice had thought yearningly, as she talked to youths whose spines turned to gelatine at one glance from her bright eyes, was the sort of man she wanted to meet and never seemed to come across.

Of all the men whose acquaintance she had made recently, she had despised Ramsden Waters most. Where others had groveled he had tied himself into knots. Where others had gazed at her like sheep, he had goggled at her like a kicked spaniel. She had only permitted him to hang around because he seemed so fond of little Wilberforce. And here he was ordering her about and piercing her with gimlet eyes, for all the world as if he were Claude Delamere, in the thirty-second chapter of "The Man of Chilled Steel," the one where Claude drags Lady Matilda around the smoking room by her hair because she gave the rose from her bouquet to the Italian Count.

She was half-cowed, half-resentful.

"Mr. Winkethorpe told me I was very good with the wooden clubs," she said, defiantly.

"He's a great kiddie," said Ramsden.

He went down the hill to where his ball lay. Eunice proceeded direct for the green. Much as she told herself she hated this man, she never questioned his ability to get there with his next shot.

George Perkins, who had long since forfeited any confidence which his partner might have reposed in him, had topped his drive, leaving Miss Bingley a difficult second out of a sandy ditch. The hole was halved.

The match went on. Ramsden won the short hole, laying his ball dead with a perfect iron shot, but at the next, the long dog-leg hole, Miss Bingley regained the honor. They came to the last hole all square.

As the match had started on the tenth tee, the last hole to be negotiated was, of course, what in the ordinary run of human affairs is the ninth, possibly the trickiest on the course. As you know, it is necessary to carry with one's initial wallop that combination of stream and lake into the clubhouse with no advantage to either side. There was a pause while Miss Bingley went to the professional's shop to have a tack put into the leather of her mashes, which had worked loose. George Perkins and Wilberforce, who were in the direction of the refreshment bar, and Ramsden and Eunice were alone.

The pique which Eunice had felt at the beginning of the game had vanished by now. She was better pleased with her performance than she had been for some time. She was glad to go into the matter fully. Also she was conscious of a feeling not perhaps of respect so much as of a descending tolerance toward Ramsden. He might be a pretty minus quantity in a drawing room or at a dance, but in a bunker or out in the rough with a cleek, Eunice felt, you'd be surprised. She was just about to address him in a spirit of familiarity, when he spoke.

Eunice gasped. Indeed had she been of a less remarkable beauty one would have said that she was startled. The sky turned black, and all her amiability was swept away in a flood of fury. The blood left her face and surged back in a rush of passion. You are engaged to be married and I tell you that there exists between you and your betrothed the utmost love and trust and understanding, but you have the nerve, could you summon up the cold, callous gall to tell your betrothed that she wasn't capable of using her wooden club? I think not. Yet this was what Ramsden Waters had told Eunice, and the delicately nurtured girl staggered before the coarse insult. Her sensitive nature was all churned up.

Ever since she had made her first drive at golf, she had prided herself on her use of the word. Her brother and her brassy were the only things she had named. And here was this man deliberately—realized that she had a full hand. There are 23 things which it is possible to do wrong in the drive, and she had done them all.

"Mr. Waters!"

Silently, Ramsden Waters made a tee and placed thereon a new ball. He was a golfer who rarely despaired, but he was playing three, and his opponents' ball would undoubtedly be on the green, possibly even dead, in two. Nevertheless, perhaps, by a supreme drive, and one or two miracles later on, the game might be saved. He concentrated his whole soul on the ball.

I need scarcely tell you that Ramsden Waters pressed.

Swish came the driver. The ball, fanned by the wind, rocked a little on the tee, then settled down in its original position. Ramsden Waters, usually the most careful of players, had missed the globe.

For a moment there was a silence—a silence which Ramsden had to strive with an effort almost physically painful not to break. Rich oaths surged to his lips, and blistering maledictions crashed against the back of his clenched teeth.

The silence was broken by little Wilberforce.

One can only gather that there lurks in the supposedly innocuous amber of ginger ale an elevating something which the temperance reformers have overlooked. Wilberforce Bray had, if you remember, tucked away no fewer than three in the spot where they would do the most good. One presumes that the child, with all that stuff surging about inside him, had become thoroughly aware of himself. He uttered a merry laugh.

"Never hit it!" said little Wilberforce.

He was kneeling beside the tee box as he spoke, and now, as one who has seen all that there is to be seen and turns, stated, to other amusements, he moved round and began to play with the sand. The spectacle of his alluring trouser seat was one which a stronger man would have found it hard to resist. To Ramsden Waters it had the aspect of a formal invitation. For one moment his No. 11 golf shoe, as supplied to all the leading professionals, wavered in midair, then crashed home.

Eunice screamed.

"How dare you kick my brother!"

Ramsden faced her, stern and pale.

"Madam," he said, "in similar circumstances I would have kicked the Archangel Gabriel!"

Then, stooping to his ball, he picked it up.

"The match is yours," he said to Miss Bingley, who, having paid no attention at all to the drama which had just concluded, was practicing short chip shots with her mashie-niblick.

He bowed coldly to Eunice, cast on look of somber satisfaction at little Wilberforce, who was painfully extricating himself from a bed of nettles into which he had rolled, and strode off. He crossed the bridge over the water and stalked up the hill.

Eunice watched him go, spellbound. Her momentary spurt of wrath at the kicking of her brother had died away, and she wished she had thought of doing it herself.

How splendid he looked, she felt as she watched Ramsden striding up to the clubhouse—just like Carruthers Mordyke after he had flung Eryntrude Vanstone from him in Chapter 41 of "Gray Eyes That Glean." Her whole soul went out to him. This was the sort of man she wanted as a partner in life. How grandly he would teach her to play golf. It had sickened her when her former instructors, prefacing their criticism with glutinous praise, had mildly suggested that some people found it a good thing to keep the head still when driving and that though her methods were splendid it might be worth trying. They had spoken of her keeping her eye on the ball as if she were doing the ball a favor. What she wanted was a great, strong, rough brute of a fellow who would tell her not to move her damned head; a rugged Viking of a chap who, if he did not keep her eye on the ball, would black it for her. And Ramsden Waters was such a one. He might not look like a Viking, but, after all, it is the soul that counts, and as this afternoon's experience had taught her, Ramsden Waters had a soul that seemed to combine in equal proportions the outstanding characteristics of Nero, a wildcat and the second mate of a tramp steamer.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY
By James J. Montague.

OF COURSE.

A Cornell professor admits that pretty girls get the best marks if they vamp the tutors.

Dollie's marks are never off.
Her standing's always high.
For Dollie always vamps the prof
And that's how she gets by.
A little vamping now and then,
A sly and dimpled smirk,
Goes farther with these learned men
Than good, hard, honest work.

Dollie cannot write a theme.
She says they're awful stuff,
But Dollie is a little dream
And that's about enough.
The sternest profs will always brook
A world of ignorance
In girls who hand them out a look Instinctive with romance.

If Dollie had a stolid face
And wore a sullen pout,
She'd slump into her rightful place
And never could get out.
But girls who are not fair to see
And lack a pleasing wit,
Don't ever garner a degree
Unless they work for it.

So when to classes Dollie goes
She finds it well worth while,
To put some powder on her nose
And wear a witching smile.
This world is governed by romance
And while all profs are male,
There'll never be the slightest chance
That Dollie'll ever fail.

A Long Time to Wait.

"Well, professor," inquired the young musician, "how do my compositions stand?"
"A very good one," answered the older man, "that they may perhaps be played when Mozart, Haydn, Mendelssohn and Meyerbeer have been forgotten."
"Really?" exclaimed the young musician in ecstasy.
"Certainly, but not till then," remarked the other.—Houston Post.
